Ducommun Signs Agreement with Pasternack to Supply Private-Label RF Components

Select Ducommun RF Products Available Online 24/7

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 2, 2015—Ducommun Incorporated (NYSE: DCO) today announced an agreement to manufacture private label RF products for Pasternack Enterprises, Inc., a leading provider of RF, microwave and millimeter wave products. The agreement makes Ducommun's RF products available under the Pasternack brand to customers with 24/7, online purchasing and same-day shipping.

"In an effort to better support both our current and new development customers, we want our products to be conveniently available, and Pasternack offers them easy, around-the-clock access," said Anthony J. Reardon, chairman and chief executive officer of Ducommun. "In addition, the agreement expands Ducommun's reach to RF customers in such industries as medical, research and development, and colleges and universities."

Ducommun will provide Pasternack a range of RF products such as coaxial switches, waveguide components, PIN diode switches and millimeter wave amplifiers, including certain unique products.

"We are focused on growth for our offering of RF components, and the addition of Ducommun's products adds depth to our current catalog," said Terry Jarnigan, chief executive officer of Pasternack. "Pasternack offers a wider reach than individual companies can achieve in worldwide sales and efficient delivery in the RF market. As we continue to grow our product offerings, we hope our line of Ducommun products continues to grow."
